

VALERII KOLESNIK

.NET C# DEVELOPER

App development for me is not just a job. It is not about do some tasks for some people. First of all this is my craft and I am sharpening my skills everyday. That is why I write my code readable not just for me but for people. I put my best to each project and bring high quality and fresh look to it. Maybe I have no professional knowledge in development, only academical, but I can absorb any information about new technologies like a sponge. When I face the problem I know how to find the answer and how to read the documentation. Acquainted with git, mercurial control versioning.
