

VALERII KOLESNIK

.NET C# DEVELOPER

My project history of around 3 years as .NET developer can say almost nothing comparing to other applicants. But my mindset is different. My purpose - bring high level solutions from the idea to the product or at least its part. Bring high level of dedication to my project flows. Conversant in a range of technologies - most notably .NET. My approach is methodical and creative. Production of readable code and project construction is my highest priority. Gained experience from my own projects hosted on github, successful projects completed on upwork and participation in university project development.
